The Church needs to be exemplary in the stewardship of her material assets in order to give testimony to the Gospel. The pastoral use of her material assets is a constitutive element of the Church, and the correct dealing with money is an important element of the spirituality of any person entrusted with leadership roles.

Program of Church Management

Pastoral Care of Material Means

Why such a program?

Unlike secular business schools where students learn to create wealth and build businesses, this program will focus on how to serve the poor effectively, and use the material assets of the Church honestly and according to Canon Law and good managerial practices in conformity with the principles of Catholic Social Teaching.

Who do we invite to participate?

- seminarians;
- young priests;
- members of religious orders;
- laity who will be leaders of the Church in various capacities and positions.

What outcome do we expect?

The wealth of expertise of the participating universities and partner institutions guarantees the highest academic level. The topics are relevant to daily pastoral ministry, and the participation of priests and other persons dedicated to the Church's service ensures the immediate application to the practical needs of the parish, the diocese, religious orders, or other Christian organizations.

The Pontifical University of the Holy Cross will be the principal coordinator of the project in Rome while constantly cooperating with and supported by the academic partner institutions.
